

Fourmasters and the Community

We work hard for local and regional business in the community through membership of the Midlands Aerospace Alliance and the Made in the Midlands campaign, of which we are proud to be founder members.

Wacky but not tacky — raft race car king of the river

Fourmasters Director Graham Powell (pictured) has also been known to put his considerable talents to good use for the Ant Hill Mob. This cardboard Whacky Races replica raised over £2000 for charity in the Ironbridge Raft Race. An amazing feat of modeling and durable enough to finish the race in good shape.

And just to prove we can work in metal too, we turned two scrap cars into a Big Yellow Taxi, complete with reinforced roof for dancing, for a local community school production of Fame.

Wolverhampton teenagers are set to dance their way to stardom — on top of an old Ford Fiesta.

People at Cooper Community High School wanted a fun musical for their production of the hit musical Fame, and a local firm came up with the answer.

Engineering company Fourmasters, based on the Bullford Road, transformed the old car into a gleaming American-style yellow taxi — and equipped it too with the teenagers aged 12 to 18 could dance on it during their stage production.

"It's a show with live props, but we decided that we really needed an American taxi," said producer Steve Clark. People wanting tickets for the show should contact the school.
